While pointing out that the nation would be better off if all citizens adopt the teachings of Ramadan in their subsequent relationships and interactions with one another, the Vice-Chancellor explained that the neglect of the virtues of Ramadan by Muslims would be a disservice on the part of all those who took part in the fast for the last 30 days.

Al-Irshad, a special Ramadan programme that focuses on The Truth, appealed to Muslim faithful in the University of Ilorin, and Nigeria, in general, to pay their Zakat as commanded by Allah to alleviate the abject poverty that is ravaging the country.

UNILORIN don to journalists: Use your pen to promote peace, value reorientation

🥑 @unilorinnews

By Mustafa Abubakar, Tajudeen

senior lecturer at the Department of Microbiology, University of Ilorin, Dr. Kamaldeen Ajijolakewu, has urged Muslim media practitioners in the country to demonstrate professionalism in discharging their duties and use their pen to promote peace and social value reorientation.

Dr. Ajijolakewu gave the charge last Thursday (April 28, 2022) while delivering a lecture at a Ramadan programme organised by the Kwara State Muslim Media Practitioners of Nigeria (MMPN) held at the NUJ Press Centre, Ilorin.

Speaking on the topic, "Maximising the benefits of Ramadan", the don also urged media practitioners to change most negative narrative about Islam and Muslims on the media space, saying that such practice would be a condition to remove their sin in the hereafter.

He said that fasting is recommended by the Almighty Allah for every believer, adding that it is the surest way to have sins forgiven and guarantee entry to Paradise.

Dr. Ajijolakewu, who is also the Chief Imam of Sarab Central Mosque, Ilorin, said that no sinner would gain Paradise, adding that there is no place for the filth in Babamale, and Abdulquadri Abubakar Paradise. He, however, said that some of the ways human beings can get cleansed from sins is either through getting punished in hell, being saved through intercession of good people, or through good deeds from one's profession.

> The cleric, thus, enjoined media practitioners to endeavour to gain paradise and attract Allah's forgiveness and mercy through what they disseminate to members of the public in form of news materials.

> "Through your profession, you may have yourselves cleansed of your sins or get your sins forgiven by Allah through what you write as journalists to promote good deeds or promote Allah. The Almighty Allah would forgive you, except if one has committed shirk (associating other gods with Allah)".

> The don said that Muslims can maximise the benefits of Ramadan through exaltation of the Almighty Allah, observing complete Salat, providing Sadaqat, Zakatul-Fitri, and observing I'tikaf.

> He also said that rewards for all the good deeds by believers are multiplied in folds in the month of Ramadan and are directed to attract Allah's mercy.

there is need for more Muslims in journalism, added that Muslim media practitioners could help to educate people on Islam better than others.

@TheUNILORIN

He said that having more Muslims in the media profession would also discourage demonising of Islam by some unscrupulous non-Muslims.

He also urged Muslims to believe in the power of prayers and be spiritually contented, enjoining them not to rely on any substance or items as substitute to power of prayers.

Earlier in his welcome address, the state Coordinator, MMPN, Mallam AbdulRasaq Laaro, described the programme as unique to get Allah's favour and asked practitioner to be conscious of their duties.

He said that part of the objectives of the group include "to promote, preserve, protect and cater for the religious, moral, social and spiritual advancement of the Muslims in Nigeria and globally; and to encourage literacy and intellectual pursuits among all Muslims and in particular the study of Islam".

The event witnessed special prayers for the nation, Kwara state, the Association, Dr. Ajijolakewu, who said that and individual members of the Association.
